Introduction

Addiction has become one of our society's most pressing problems and most tragic illnesses. Every year, it tears away at the heart of millions of families and creeps closer to thousands of people. What used to affect only those who could afford indulgence, now affects the world at large. The human soul yearns for love and acceptance and the mind often thinks we need to alter ourselves in order to achieve that.

As sensitive people, we have a very difficult time surviving the heartbreak prevalent in our world. In the midst of all the confusion and stress, often we turn to substance in order to numb our emotions. At the seat of all that affects the mind is something that is tearing at the heart.

Therefore, once deciding to recover, the ability to identify ones feelings is vitally important. We need a simple and direct way to re-discover ourselves. We are what we feel and getting to know ourselves is the only way to get to a healthy, serene life.

The first step is to “peel away the layers” that lie between the heart and the issue. We need to begin to recognize our own unique emotional spectrum. We must learn to look at our short comings with softer eyes and a gentler outlook. In order to do this, we need to transform dysfunctional patterns and replace them with intelligent and conscious decisions. Through this action, we source our true feelings and transmute our negative ones into positive ones.

This manual is created so that we may walk the path with a knowing heart, a fearless mind, a healthy body and a happy spirit. Congratulations to all who have had the courage and wherewithal to welcome sobriety.

Staying Sober

We all want to feel good and yet often when looking for ways to accomplish this we find solutions that make us feel bad. We make momentary decisions for short term pleasures that lead us to a path of long lasting pain. We will always encounter problems from living in this world. Therefore, the most empowering thing we can do is develop the ability to deal with these problems in a constructive and intelligent way.

Being aware of our own good qualities is the first significant step to self-empowerment and a healthy sobriety. Most of the time we are not thinking of how wonderful we are. We tend to spend more time concentrating on our faults rather than our qualities; what is wrong with us instead of what is right. All of us dream of things being different, of manifesting more successes, such as having more joy, love and victories in our daily lives. The truth is these dreams are birthed from and dependent upon our ability to experience decisions that leave us feeling good about ourselves. When we live each day focusing on our good emotions, we end up feeling so much better. Our self-esteem rises and all of a sudden, we begin to know that, whether it happens or not, we deserve the very best of everything.

Exercise 1

Emotions

Empowering Positive Feelings

Feelings, when mismanaged, are the reason for most of the traumas in our individual and collective world. Our pain is caused from our wounds and is solved from our wellness. In order for us to transform our negative feelings, we must be able to name them so that we may tame them.

There is no shame in having negative, horrible feelings; it is what we do with them that counts. We need to use these feelings because they let us know when something is out of place. No one can escape the challenges of difficult emotions, therefore the sooner we train ourselves to deal with them, the better chance we have of manifesting the healthy, happy life we yearn for.

We are what we feel and we relate in the way we express. We need to have a better understanding of ourselves and our emotional triggers. We must remember that all of our mistakes are just an opportunity for us to grow. It is when we keep making the same mistake over and over again, that we must stop, listen and learn. From that knowledge and experience, we will transform what was previously our problem into our personal empowerment.

Our motto:

Name the feelings – Claim the feelings – Tame the feelings – Aim the feelings.

Instructions

The purpose of this exercise is to empower positive emotions. As we empower these positive emotions, they empower us. Go to each one from A-Z and make a list of how you were the opposite of the positive emotion. Then make a plan as to how you can or could have transformed this into the positive emotion. Take your time with this exercise as it really works.

The A-Z of Positive Emotions

- Aware – the opposite of aware is asleep
- Bold – the opposite of bold is cowardly
- Compassionate – the opposite of compassionate is coldhearted
- Determined – the opposite of determined is uncommitted
- Energetic – the opposite of energetic is lethargic
- Forgiving – the opposite of forgiving is resentful
- Gentle – the opposite of gentle is harsh
- Harmonious – the opposite of harmonious is contrary
- Integral – the opposite of integral is deceptive
- Joyful – the opposite of sad
- Kind – the opposite of kind is cruel
- Loving – the opposite of loving is hateful
- Magical – the opposite of magical is limited
- Nurturing – the opposite of nurturing is self-indulgent
- Optimistic – the opposite of optimistic is pessimistic
- Pure – the opposite of pure is corrupt
- Quickened – the opposite of quickened is uninspired
- Respectful – the opposite of respectful is humiliating
- Sensitive – the opposite of sensitive is insensitive
- Truthful – the opposite of truthful is dishonest
- Understanding – the opposite of understanding is judgmental
- Victorious – the opposite of victorious is defeated
- Willing – the opposite of willing is controlling
- Xcited – the opposite of Xcited is depressed
- Yearning – the opposite of yearning is stagnant
- Zestful – the opposite of zestful is apathetic

Exercise 2

Mind

Intelligence is not what people think it is. It is not about being an A student or a mental wizard. It is not about our intellect. It is about grace, dignity and mindfulness. It is the ability to handle challenges without any drama. Our true power comes from our strength of mind, responding to things rather than reacting to them.

The following twelve statements are manifestation of our higher intelligence.

1. Contemplation – studying all aspects of the situation.
2. Non-judgement – not judging others, but rather assessing them wisely.
3. Listening skills – making certain we inquire and ask.
4. Embraces errors – seeing them as opportunities for growth.
5. Honest to goodness truth – speaking truth as a way to help not harm.
6. No ego – knowing when driven by ego, we go the wrong way.
7. Allowing – letting things unfold as they are meant to.
8. Patience – waiting calmly for the right timing of things.
9. Perseverance – not giving up until it is the time to give up.
10. Comic relief – knowing that those who laugh, last.
11. Commitment – knowing nothing can succeed without it.
12. Discernment – knowing what is good for us and what is not.

Which five are you good at and which five do you struggle with?

Exercise 3

Body

Our body is the vehicle for our soul. Therefore, it is important that we take good care of it, as we would our car. Our body has a voice all of its own. When we are sick, it is trying to tell us something. We need to study our emotions, look to our spirit and then find the solution back to our health.

There are many options out there as to how to take care of our bodies. Diets, exercise programs, doctors, running and weight lifting. However, in this exercise, we look to understand more how our body speaks than how it works. It responds by being tired, hungry, thirsty, muscle fatigue, pain and then sickness.

1. When you get tired, do you pay attention and rest, if not why?

2. When you get hungry, do you pay attention and eat, if not why?

3. When you are thirsty, do you stop and get a beverage, if not why?

4. Do you move your body during the day, cleaning, walking, exercise, gardening if not why?

5. Do you have a good bed, if not why?

6. Do you eat good foods, if not why?

7. Do you drink nutritious drinks, if not why?

8. If you work at a desk, do you get up and move, if not why?

9. Our bodies love quiet. Do you have quiet time, if not why?

10. Our bodies love nature. Do you spend any time in nature, if not why?

11. Do you keep your body, clothes, house and room clean, if not why?

12. When you start to feel a little sick, do you pay attention as to why you are sick, if not why?

13. Our bodies love happiness. Do you make sure to feed it uplifting and positive news, films, books and videos, if not why?

Exercise 4

Spirit

Exercise 4

Spirit

Maintaining a healthy spirit is not an outside job; it comes from our own thought forms. Because there is so much we cannot control outside of ourselves, many times we end up feeling helpless and vulnerable. In turn, that helplessness creates stress inside of ourselves. We worry, and worry, when not directed properly can instigate sickness, depression and feelings of lack. In truth, worry costs a lot and accomplishes very little if not handled accurately.

We live in a world where we are exposed to many challenging events and an enormous amount of fervor. As a result, keeping our spirit alive is one of the most difficult things to achieve. Even when we grasp it, it can disappear in a heartbeat. It takes concentration, discipline and devotion, not to another, but to ourselves to protect our soul and our spirit.

The keys to fulfilling our spirit is not avoidance or denial. It is quite the opposite. It comes from directness and truth. The ugliest truth is better than the most beautiful lie. Harmony won by compromising truth is always short-lived.

There are four basic rules that keep our spirit thriving:

Acceptance

Accepting the things we cannot change or manifest.
This is masterful.

Non-Attachment

Knowing not to be attached to outcome.
This is genius.

Faith

Believing there is a bigger plan and there is more in the unseen than the seen.
This is enlightenment.

Serenity

Understanding that we need to respond to challenges, not react to them.
This is stellar.

Acceptance

Meaning of Acceptance:
agreeable, understanding as valid, welcomed, believed

1. Whom do you not accept as they are and state if you believe they want to change? Make a list.

2. If not, can you accept the reality of the person and if not, how can you change that for yourself?

3. What can you not accept in your life? Make a list.

4. Do you believe you can change this for yourself? If so, how?

5. If you cannot change it, how and what can you change to better accept it?

Non-Attachment

Meaning of Non-Attachment:

not to make fast to something, not to hold great importance to the outcome, not to feel something or someone belongs to us, not to be affixed.

1. Where or to whom do you feel the most attached and why?

2. Do you feel you can detach and if not why?

Faith

Meaning of Faith:

belief without evidence, confidence in the outcome, credence, honorable intentions

1. Where do you lack faith and why?

2. How can you change this?

3. Where do you have the most faith?

4. Whom do you have the least faith in and why?

5. Whom do you have the most faith in and why?

Serenity Wisdoms

Read the 28 wisdoms below and pick the five that are the hardest for you and why.

Then pick the five that you want to work on the most and how you will do this.

1. Serenity comes from not basing expectations on anyone but ourselves.
2. Serenity comes from being affected by everything and reacting to nothing.
3. Serenity comes from watching our thoughts, as they hold the power.
4. Serenity comes from realizing that being kind is not always the answer.
5. Serenity comes from feeling the difference between protecting or defending ourselves.
6. Serenity comes from continually seeking knowledge and wisdom.
7. Serenity comes from knowing that anything that does not work needs to be in review.
8. Serenity comes from staying in grace, no matter the circumstances.
9. Serenity comes from living our principles and integrity.
10. Serenity comes from truth and only truth.
11. Serenity comes from not dwelling in faint heartedness.
12. Serenity comes from understanding the weakness of our corrupted society.
13. Serenity comes from birthing our own reality, not dependent on outside forces.
14. Serenity comes from eliminating narcissism within ourselves.
15. Serenity comes from wanting the “we” program rather than the “I”.
16. Serenity comes from analyzing forces which obstruct our spirit.
17. Serenity comes from demolishing our arrogance and demonstrating our humility.
18. Serenity comes from receiving graciously.
19. Serenity comes from silencing our pessimism and saluting our optimism.
20. Serenity comes from feeling and speaking our gratitude many times each day.
21. Serenity comes from never diminishing ourselves.
22. Serenity comes from facing our fears head on; and then turning our head off.
23. Serenity comes from studying the difference between reality and illusion.
24. Serenity comes from respecting differences.
25. Serenity comes from welcoming and embracing our destiny.
26. Serenity comes from standing by our convictions and not conforming to the patterns of the world.
27. Serenity comes from making a small difference, with large passion.
28. Serenity comes from being unique, while being united.

Notes on Life

Notes on Life

Love

The ways of love are often challenging and can carry hurt. Yet this pain leads to the opening of understanding and compassion. Love must be followed, as it comes to give us the growth we yearn for. Love is a vehicle for our pruning and our prosperity. Our soul soars through its presence. Our life is un-lived without it and can only be unveiled within it. When we leave this planet, as we all will, what will matter most is how well we loved during our stay here in this lifetime. Love is the only emotion that goes on for infinity, as it lives as one with our souls.

Relationship

Healthy relationships are unified by being uniquely united. Love to be together, but love equally to be alone. Honor each other's independence, yet cherish the right to experience dependency, in its rightful place. Solid relationships are like trees. They love to be near each other, help each other, branch out together, yet have their own roots. Stand tall, bend easily, go with the wind, welcome the rain and bask in the sun. Inter-dependence – not co-dependence. For all these things speak of a healthy relationship.

Giving

To give of ourselves, is to truly give. To give when we do not feel like it, is to truly give. To give when we have little is to truly give. To give anonymously, is to truly give. To give when in little faith, is to truly find faith. Giving is its own reward. It returns back to us a vision of an unlimited way of thinking. Giving dresses another with love, as it is sewn with threads and material from our own heart to the other. Giving embodies an angelic presence that was looking for a place to land.

Work

Through our work, we become the co-creators of our self-made universe. If our work is the extension of our heart and soul, we will never dread a day, nor fear a week. Instead, we awaken with joy and happiness. We sleep and dream with excitement instead of exhaustion. Through loving our work, we know contentment because we come to love our life. It matters not what our profession is, it only matters how we view and embrace our profession. Loving what we do ensures an abundance of joy to follow.

Happiness

Happiness comes not from void of challenges, but from the fulfillment to deal with them. Sorrow, hurt, pain, loss are all stepping stones to enlightenment and enlightenment leads to bliss. Miraculously, we shed the same tears from our laughter as we do from our sadness. All our emotions are stimulated from our hearts. The more our heart expresses, the happier we feel. Our unfiltered pain opens the door to our unanswered pleasure. In truth, our soul walks upon all paths to get to its gladness.

Freedom

Freedom is an inside job. Feeling free is mind over matter. It is not what transpires in our life that gives us a feeling of freedom, it is how we perceive what transpires. Fear is a prison, so the more we deal with it and use it as a wisdom, the freer we become. Many of us have become imprisoned by thoughts of freedom being associated with having more time, more money, more love and these thoughts become our chains. Freedom is birthed from the presence of NOW, which backwards spells WON!

Knowledge

There is much to learn, there is much to unlearn. There is a truth, there is the truth. There is self-knowledge, there is universal knowledge. Our souls come here to learn and experience. It takes openness, open-heartedness, open-mindedness and a willingness to open all that has been closed. This leads to a deepening of our spirit and a mending to our heart. Knowledge fills our needs not our emptiness. It becomes our forever friend, never to abandon us.

Goodness

Goodness is stimulated when we are one with our heart. Goodness is stimulated when we care and give of ourselves. Goodness is stimulated when we study our words. Goodness is stimulated when we are bold for our dreams. Goodness is stimulated when we are kind. Goodness is stimulated when we are integral and truthful. Goodness is stimulated when we are sensitive to those less fortunate. Goodness is stimulated when we embrace love.

Hope

Hope comes from a willingness to try and fail; rather than failing to try. Hope always sees the glass as half full, rather than half empty. Hope is birthed from gratitude and forgiveness, as these two emotions seed our new life. Hope is the juice that keeps our hearts pumping and our spirits soaring. Hope screams yes to determination and screams no to vacillation. Hope cheers for self-expression and boos self-depression. Hope knows nothing of limited thinking. Hope says nope to anything that can stand in the way of hope.

Generosity

Being generous is being someone else's good luck. Having the chance to right a wrong is one of the most rewarding experiences that can happen in our lives. It means we are the seed of change and the tree of transformation. Sharing is the solution that can solve all problems. It is the one thing that can eliminate needless suffering. When we give, we become the miracle that someone else was waiting for. This in itself, makes our life abundant and sacred.
