Team – A Leader’s Strategy

A good leader knows that the greatest strategy is to work in team....for team means Together Each Accomplishes More. However, by empowering our highest self-esteem - we proactively infuse the collective body of the team.

Silence – A Leader’s Wisdom

An advanced leader knows when seeking direction and wisdom, one should make time to be in silence. Higher knowledge cannot be heard when there is busyness, noise and thought-clutter. One cannot hear when others are near.

Gratitude – A Leader’s Power

A smart leader knows that gratitude is the true source of power. It births from an awareness of the trials and defeats that led to the positive results and successes. With great gratitude, one ensures a positive attitude.

Humility – A Leader’s Mandate

A humble leader knows that it is not necessary to talk about our successes – we simply need to share them. We lead by example of who we are and how we live. We do not display ourselves by our words and talk, but by our deeds and walk.

Respect – A Leader’s Mastery

An accomplished leader knows it is foolhardy to diminish our strengths in an effort to make others feel better about themselves. The greatest honor we can show to another is to share - our own highest attributes, with no fan fare.

Associations – A Leader’s Intelligence

A sharp leader knows that the protection of our success is secured with the wisdom of discernment. Discernment is the watch tower for the leader. Red flags were created for a very good reason, they are meant to prevent future treason.

Forgiveness – A Leader’s Emotion

An insightful leader knows that for those who cannot forgive another, will not forgive themselves. And for those who do not forgive themselves, will inevitably become a poor decision maker and a wobbly, weak faker.

Integrity – A Leader’s Virtue

An impeccable leader knows that deception conceals us, not only from others, but from our own purpose and destiny. Success and freedom can only be sustained - if TRUTH and NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH is maintained.

Courage – A Leader’s Strength

A mighty leader knows that anything worthwhile is worth fighting for. As well, anyone who is enlightened must defend against becoming darkened. However, is it not how we fall or bounce, it is how we get back up that counts.

Acceptance – A Leader’s Achievement

An equipped leader knows how to accept change and defeat because defeat catapults us to our next victories. We embrace our lessons as a way of becoming stronger and more stabilized. We are smarter, so things are less harder.

Calmness – A Leader’s Weapon

A patient leader knows timing is everything. We watch for the signs and signals. We move ahead with certainty and commitment, leaving no room for vacillation or confusion. When we are more precise - our decisions are more concise.

Justice – A Leader’s Mission

A true leader knows to commit to fight for justice FOR ALL at ALL TIMES in ALL WAYS. He or she will not stand for anything less and does not kneel to darkness or manipulation on this matter - even if our pockets don’t get fatter.

Charitable – A Leader’s Asset

A generous leader knows that when we leave this world, we take nothing material with us. Money is not required in heaven. Therefore, our generosity is constant and outrageous - and in the end, becomes contagious.

Discipline – A Leader’s Focus

A conscious leader knows to always attention to the details. The smallest detail missed, can create the largest problem. Our feet must be planted on the ground - so our heads do not stay in the clouds, and cannot be found.

Commitment – A Leader’s Passion

An inspired leader knows that without commitment nothing will work. For this kind of leader, it is all quite simple. Mediocre input - mediocre output. Miraculous input - miraculous output. Never is our passion out of fashion.

Judgement – A Leader’s Contemplation

A noble leader knows that judging another is indeed not sound judgement. Words must make room for goodness and no room for gossip. Always get the truthful facts - in order for our honor and integrity to stay intact.

Faith – A Leader’s Knowledge

A limitless leader knows that miraculous events occur when being unrestricted by facts and figures. In truth, there is more happening in the unseen than the seen. Our limited fearful thinking can lead to our magnificent ship sinking.

Caring – A Leader’s Action

A compassionate leader knows that if we are not part of the solution, we are part of the problem. People do not care how much we know until they know how much we care. We start with our heart, not being led by our head.
